Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel

A Statesman

"The Iron man of India" and a "true patriot" Vallabhbhai Patel as a known as 'Sardar', meaning the most efficient leader after he led successful protest against British and tax at Bardoli in Gujrat.

A barrister turned freedom fighter whose favourite quote "Unite with the purpose to be strong", was also influenced by Swami Vivekanand and has also tried to follow as well as propagated the ideology. "Strength is life and weakness is death.

"His jump into Indian freedom struggle was due to influence of Mahatma Gandhi-the father of the nation. Vallabhbhai Patel accepted the non-violent means of Gandhi for the liberation of Indian people from the clutches of British Rulers. His study of law, already given him strong command over language and the power to "Speak proper words at proper time," and the strong arguments and reasoning power made him successful to convince the stubborn and rich 600 regional princes to come together in forming an integral Indian as a whole.

His achievements does not stop here, after independence, he became the first home minister of India and remembered as "Patron Saint" of Indian Civil Servants for establishing modern all India Services. His strength of character, the sharpness of his mind, his organizing skills and all his energy provides a great deal of help to several modern day leaders and statesmen in the growth and development of the country. His personality can be defined in his own words when he says:

"Education is incomplete without morality & good character. Good Character leads to mental development."
